

FAU Boca is now a member of the National Collegiate Honors Council which offers undergraduate honor students and faculty mentors the possibility of sending proposals to their national conference in order to present their research. <http://nchchonors.org/>

The conference of the will be held March 31st-April 2nd in Orlando.

Mary Ann will send the following information to the deans: SG funding, e-archiving of Honors Capstone projects in the library and the National Collegiate Honors Council membership and conference information.

Based on an NSF grant (set of questions) she raised the issue of what are FAU's ethics politics or standards in general, in Honors in the Major programs? Who is responsible for ensuring theses are compliant? Should we develop a policy with a required signature stating that requirements were met?
